Dear parents/carers

The English department are delighted to announce that this month we are supporting a fantastic charity: Read for Good. The charity raises money to buy books for children who are in long-term care in hospitals around the country. They also employ storytellers to go into hospitals and entertain children with their exciting and engaging tales.

Your child has been given the option to take part in a sponsored read which will run for the following month (this is entirely optional however we would love it if all children could take part). In order to raise money, your child will be challenging themselves to read more than usual, particularly outside of school. It's up to them to set their own challenge; it could be reading a certain number of books, pages or for a specific length of time each day. The children have been told to ask family and friends for sponsorship and not to approach strangers; please reinforce this message at home.

We ask that sponsorship money be sent into school rather than going directly to the charity so we can see how much we have raised as a school. The deadline for sponsorship money to be handed in is Monday, 16th April. We hope you will join us in encouraging your child to read for this inspirational cause.

Yours sincerely

The English department
